300 OR 600GSM

Can't decide which thickness?

300gsm is a thick luxurious paper stock (to give you an idea of thickness, the average card stock is around only 200 to 240gsm). However, if you have your heart set on the really tactile feel of letterpress impression, then 600gsm is the way to go. Just saying!

POPULAR STATIONERY COMBINATION – Large invitation, long (DL)

POPULAR STATIONERY COMBINATION – Medium invitation size

MEDIUM card*Invitation

Rectangular A6 (155 x 110mm)

REGULAR card*RSVP*, Save The Date or Info card

Rectangular 4 Bar (120 x 80mm)

**RSVP envelopes include your reply address

Saves your hand the work!

SMALL card*Gift or info card

Rectangular 90 x 55mm

The MEDIUM sized invitation is slightly smaller. Because it uses less paper (it's all about the paper) it's also a little easier on your budget.

The only trick here is to keep your wording economical too!
